Presentation Guidelines

1. For Paper Presentation

Each presentation has 20 minutes. And please...

- Please be aware of time constraints. It is VERY important to be within the timeframe so other presenters in your session have adequate time for their presentations.
- Please honor the order of presentation, so attendees can plan ahead to go to other concurrent sessions.
- Each session has a 10~20-minute open floor discussion.

2. For President

Presiders of Refereed Session will introduce each presenter of the session and lead the discussion. And please...

- Please make sure each presenter will have adequate time, meaning cut the presentation that is extended over 5 minutes.
- Please honor the order of presentation.
- Please lead the discussion. If you like to, you can give a full review of papers, but it's totally up to you.

Call for Papers

Special Issue: Challenges and their Appropriate Policy Responses of the Asia-Pacific Economies in the Next Decade

Guest Editor: Dr. Jr-Tsung Huang (National Chengchi University)

SYNOPSIS AND SUBJECT COVERAGE

For the past few decades, the Asian Pacific economies have achieved impressive rates of economic growth. However, these economies now face significant challenges such as climate change, widespread anti-globalism sentiments that express themselves in the US- China and other trade conflicts, demographic change, financial innovation and cyber security. These challenges impact on the future standards of living of these economies, which call for appropriate policies from governments in the region.

Papers in any area of economics covering the theme of the conference are welcomed, but they have to be empirical and policy focused. Papers on experimental economics are fine, but NOT purely theoretical papers. All submissions should be original and in English.

Authors of selected papers will be invited after the conference to submit their revised manuscripts for consideration for publication in a special issue of the Routledge journal, the Journal of the Asia Pacific Economy (JAPE). Only articles of sufficient merit will be accepted for publication in the special issue after a further review process. There are no submission and publication fees, or page charges for the journal.

Contributors should submit their manuscripts in English to Dr. Jr-Tsung Huang at jthuang@nccu.edu.tw by August 31, 2020. The subject of the email should be "Manuscript for Submission to the SI of JAPE". Dr. Huang will be appointed as the Guest Editor of the JAPE's special issue after the conference.

For further questions or inquiries, please visit journal website or contact the corresponding guest editor at jthuang@nccu.edu.tw.

Call for Papers

Special Issue: Consumer and Family Economic and Financial Issues in the Asia-Pacific Region

Guest Editors: Dr. Jr-Tsung Huang (National Chengchi University)

SYNOPSIS AND SUBJECT COVERAGE

The focus of this special issue is generally on consumers and families and their economic and financial issues. Therefore, all submissions should include both either an economic or financial element and either a consumer or family element. In other words, this special issue acknowledges the bidirectional influence of consumers and families on economic and financial issues AND the influence of economic and financial issues on consumers and families. We encourage papers that examine factors and outcomes relevant to consumer/family financial/economic issues at either micro- or macro- levels as submissions in this special issue. Prospective topics in this special issue are expected to be relevant to but NOT limited to the following:

- Consumer Economics
- Family Economics
- Financial Economics
- Health Economics
- International Economics
- Labor Economics
- Marketing
- Public Economics
- Real Estate Economics
- Regional Economics
- Sustainable Economics
- Welfare Economics

Contributors should submit their manuscripts in English to Dr. Jr-Tsung Huang at jthuang@nccu.edu.tw by August 15, 2020. The subject of the email should be "Manuscript for Submission to the SI of JFEI". Dr. Huang has been appointed as the Guest Editor of this JFEI's special issue.

Authors of selected papers will be invited after the conference to submit their revised manuscripts for consideration for publication in a special issue of the Journal of Family and Economic Issues (JFEI). Manuscripts should be submitted online at the following link: <https://www.editorialmanager.com/jeei/default.aspx> and must adhere to the "Submission Guidelines" (available online at <https://www.springer.com/journal/10834/submission-guidelines>) of Journal of Family and Economic Issues. Only articles of sufficient merit will be accepted for publication in the special issue after a further review process. There are no submission and publication fees, or page charges for the journal.

THE SINGAPORE ECONOMIC REVIEW Special Issue on China's Economy: Challenges and Development in the Future

The Singapore Economic Review will publish a special issue on China's Economy: Challenges and Development in the Future.

Guest Editor

Jr-Tsung Huang (National Chengchi University)

Synopsis and Subject Coverage

After 40 years of reform, China has successfully developed her economy, the second-largest in the world after the USA. It is about time to review the process of China's economic development in the past 40 years and to investigate the possibility of sustainable development of China's economic growth in the future. The Singapore Economic Review will publish a special issue to shed light on challenges and development of China's economy in the future. We would like to broadly invite researchers to submit original micro- and macro-level studies related to China's economy to this special issue. Prospective topics in this special issue should be relevant but NOT limited to the following:

Consumer Economics	Industrial Economics
Demography/ Population Economics	Institutional Economics
Development Economics	International Economics
Educational Economics	Labor Economics
Environment Economics	Monetary Economics
Family Economics	Public Economics/Taxation
Financial Economics	Real Estate Economics
Gender Economics	Regional Economics
Health Economics	Transitional Economics
Human Resource	Welfare Economics

All submissions have to be original, policy oriented, prospective, and in English. Empirical research articles are most welcomed. However, experimental, theoretical, and empirical case studies will also be considered.

Submission Procedure

Contributors should submit their manuscript in English by October 31, 2020. Manuscripts should be submitted online at the following link: www.editorialmanager.com/ser/default.asp.

Contributors should clearly indicate in the website that the paper is submitted to the Special Issue on China's Economy: Challenges and Development in the Future. There is no submission fee.

All papers must adhere to the "Guideline for Contributors" (available online at <https://www.worldscientific.com/page/ser/submission-guidelines>) of the Singapore Economic Review.
